

Table of ●●●● Contents

Preface	xvii
----------------------	-------------

Chapter 1

Introducing Social Psychology	2
--	----------

INTRODUCTION	2
---------------------------	----------

What Is Social Psychology?	3
---	----------

Social Psychology Studies How We Are Influenced by Others	4
--	----------

Social Psychology Is More Than Common Sense	5
--	----------

Social Psychology Studies How Social Reality Is Created (and Recreated)	6
---	----------

Social Psychology Is Studied in Both Psychology and Sociology	11
---	-----------

Social Psychology Has Both European and American Roots	12
---	-----------

Organizing Concepts and Perspectives in Social Psychology	19
--	-----------

The Self Is Shaped by—and Shapes—the Social Environment	19
---	-----------

Our Social Thinking Can Be Automatic or Deliberate	23
---	-----------

Culture Shapes Social Behavior	25
--	-----------

Evolution Shapes Universal Patterns of Social Behavior	32
--	-----------

Brain Activity Affects and Is Affected by Social Behavior	36
---	-----------

Positive Psychology Is an Emerging Perspective in Social Psychology	39
--	-----------

Web Sites	40
------------------------	-----------

Chapter 2

Conducting Research in Social Psychology	44
---	-----------

INTRODUCTION	44
---------------------------	-----------

The Goals and Process of Research	45
--	-----------

Two Research Goals Focus on Acquiring and Applying Knowledge	46
---	-----------

The Research Process Involves a Series of Steps	48
---	-----------

Meta-Analysis Examines the Outcomes of Many Studies	57
--	-----------

One Strength of the Scientific Method Is Its Self-Correcting Nature	58
---	-----------

Common Scientific Methods	61
--	-----------

Description Is the Goal of Observational Research	61
---	-----------

Correlational Research Assesses the Direction and Strength of the Relationship Between Variables	66
---	-----------

Experimental Research Can Determine Cause-Effect Relationships	74
---	-----------

The Promise and Caution in Using Emerging Technologies	78
---	-----------

Social Psychologists Are Increasingly Using New Technologies	78
--	-----------

The Study of Actual Behavior Is Declining in Social Psychology	83
---	-----------

Web Sites	85
------------------------	-----------

Chapter 3

The Self88

INTRODUCTION89

The Self as Both Active Agent and Object of Attention89

Contemporary Self Theories Are Based on the Insights of James and Mead.90

Self-Awareness Is Reflective Thinking......91

Culture and Self-Awareness.....97

Self-regulation Is the Self's Most Important Function.98

The Self as a Knowledge Structure105

Self-Concept Involves a Network of Self-Aspects......105

Cultural Beliefs about Self-Group Relationships Shape Self-Concept.108

Cultural Beliefs about Gender Shape Self-Concept......113

Social Identities Establish "What" and "Where" We Are as Social Beings......115

Presenting the Self to Others118

Self-Presentations Are Either Consciously or Automatically Constructed......118

Self-Presentation Strategies Differ in Their Goals.121

Evaluating the Self128

Self-Esteem Influences How We Approach and Respond to Life Challenges.129

Self-Enhancement and Self-Verification Motives Conflict in Low Self-Esteem Persons......131

There Is a Dark Side to High Self-Esteem.134

In Social Relationships, Self-Esteem Is Maintained

Through Social Reflection and Social Comparison.136

Applications140

The Big Picture142

Web Sites143

Chapter 4

Social Cognition and Person Perception146

INTRODUCTION147

How Does Automatic Thinking

Help Us Make Sense of Social Information?148

We Are Categorizing Creatures......149

Schemas Affect What Information We Notice and Later Remember......150

Schemas Can Be Situationally or Chronically Activated......154

Heuristics Are Time-Saving Mental Shortcuts.158

How Does Deliberate Thinking Help Us Make Sense of Past Events?164

The Hindsight Bias Is Fueled by Our Desire for Sense Making......164

Counterfactual Thinking Likely Follows Negative and Unexpected Events.166

Suppressing Thoughts Can Sometimes Backfire.168

Person Perception170

Nonverbal Behaviors of Others Shape Our Impressions of Them.170

Culture and Gender Influence the Expression of Nonverbal Cues......177

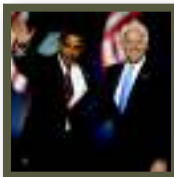

Our Brains Are Wired For Gossip......179

Most of Us Are Poor Deception Detectors.181

We Develop Implicit Personality Theories Based on Central Traits.184

We Often Seek Information to Confirm Our First Impressions......187

Making Attributions	188
We Rely Upon Particular Information When Explaining People's Actions.....	189
Correspondent Inference Theory Assumes that
People Prefer Making Dispositional Attributions.....	191
The Covariation Model Explains Attributions Derived from Multiple Observation Points...	194
There Are Biases in the Attribution Process.	197
Making Attributions Involves Both Automatic and Deliberate Thinking.	204
Applications	206
The Big Picture	209
Web Sites	211

Chapter 5

Attitudes and Persuasion	214
---------------------------------------	------------

INTRODUCTION	215
---------------------------	------------

The Nature of Attitudes	216
--------------------------------------	------------

Attitudes Are Positive or Negative Evaluations of Objects.....	216
Implicit Attitudes May Underlie Explicit Attitudes.....	218
Reference Groups Shape Social and Political Attitudes.	222

How Does Automatic Thinking Shape Attitudes and Behavior?	224
--	------------

Mere Exposure Can Lead to Positive Attitudes.	224
Attitudes Can Form Through Classical Conditioning.....	227
Reinforcement and Punishment Can Shape Attitudes.....	230
Attitudes Are Influenced by Changes in Facial Expression,
Head Movement, and Body Posture.	231

How Does Deliberate Thinking Shape Attitudes and Behavior?	235
---	------------

Cognitive Dissonance Theory Asserts that Rationalization Shapes Attitudes.	235
Cognitive Consistency Is Not a Universal Motive.	244
Self-Perception Theory Contends that Behavior Causes Attitudes.	247
The Theory of Planned Behavior Explains "Thought-Through" Actions.	250

The Nature of Persuasion	254
---------------------------------------	------------

Persuasion Can Occur Through Both Effortful and Effortless Thinking.	254
Persuader Credibility and Attractiveness Can Affect Persuasion.....	258
Rapid Speech Encourages Peripheral-Route Persuasion
While Hindering Central-Route Processing.....	262
Emotions Motivate, Enhance, and Hinder Persuasion.....	263
Two-Sided Messages Inoculate Audiences Against Opposing Views.	267
We Can Develop Attitude Certainty by Actively Trying to Counterargue.....	269

Applications	274
---------------------------	------------

The Big Picture	278
------------------------------	------------

Web Sites	279
------------------------	------------

Chapter 6

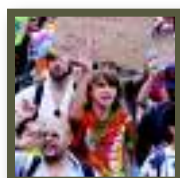

Stereotyping, Prejudice, and Discrimination.....	282
---	------------

INTRODUCTION	283
---------------------------	------------

Cognitive, Affective, and Behavioral
---	--

Components of Intergroup Conflict	286
--	------------

Stereotypes Are Beliefs About Social Groups.	286
Prejudice Is an Attitude and Discrimination Is an Action.	292
There Are Three Basic Forms of Prejudice.	295
Common Targets of Intolerance in Contemporary Society	298
Race-Based Appearance Cues Can Trigger Discrimination.	299
Modern-Day Racism Is More Ambivalent than Openly Hostile.	303
Sexism Has Both a Hostile and a Benevolent Component.	309
Intolerance Based on Weight and Sexual Orientation Is Often Accepted.	315
Stigmatized Groups Can Experience Stereotype Threat.	319
What Motives and Social Factors Shape Prejudice and Discrimination?	324
Ingroup Members Are Favored over Outgroup Members.	324
Intergroup Competition Can Lead to Prejudice.	328
Prejudice Can Serve as a Justification for Oppression.	332
Authoritarianism Is Associated with Hostility Toward Outgroups.	337
Can We Reduce Intergroup Bias and Intolerance?	342
Prejudice and Discrimination Can Be Reduced by Monitoring Stereotyped Thinking.	342
Targets of Prejudice Can Become Positive Social Change Agents.	345
The Contact Hypothesis Identifies Social Conditions That Reduce Intergroup Conflict.	346
Applications	351
The Big Picture	353
Web Sites	354

Chapter 7

Social Influence	356
-------------------------------	------------

INTRODUCTION	357
---------------------------	------------

What Is Social Influence?	359
--	------------

Conformity, Compliance, and Obedience Are Different Types of Social Influence.	360
---	-----

People with Social Power Are More Likely to Initiate Action.	361
---	-----

Classic and Contemporary Conformity Research	363
---	------------

Sherif Analyzed Conformity to an Ambiguous Reality.	363
--	-----

Specific Situations Can Automatically Activate Specific Social Norms.	367
--	-----

Asch Analyzed Conformity to a Unanimous Majority.	370
--	-----

Normative and Informational Influence Shape Conformity.	374
--	-----

Schachter Investigated the Rejection of the Nonconformist.	376
---	-----

What Factors Influence Conformity?	379
---	------------

Situational Factors Impact Conformity.	379
---	-----

Personal Factors Influence Conformity.	382
---	-----

Cultures Differ in Their Conformity Patterns.	385
--	-----

The Minority Can Influence the Majority.	386
---	-----

Conformity Is Sometimes Automatically Activated.	392
---	-----

Compliance	393
-------------------------	------------

Manipulating Moods and Invoking Norms Foster Compliance.	393
---	-----

Two-Step Strategies Are Effective Compliance Traps.	396
--	-----

Obedience	402
------------------------	------------

Milgram's Research Suggests that Destructive Obedience Is Fairly Common.	403
---	-----

Recent Studies Provide Further Insights into Milgram's Original Findings.	408
Observing Others Defy Authority Greatly Reduces Obedience.	410
Toward a Unified Understanding of Social Influence	413
Social Impact Theory Explains Influence Strength.	413
Applications	417
The Big Picture	419
Web Sites	421

Chapter 8

Group Behavior	424
INTRODUCTION	425
The Nature of Groups	425
Group Success Fosters Social Identification.	426
Groups Differ in Their Social Cohesiveness.	427
Groups Accomplish Instrumental Tasks and Satisfy Socioemotional Needs.	431
Group Structure Develops Quickly and Changes Slowly.	432
There Are Five Phases to Group Membership.	434
Group Influence on Individual Behavior	438
The Presence of Others Can Energize Us.	438
The Presence of Others Can Hide Us.	442
Being Both Energized and Hidden Can Lower Our Inhibitions.	445
Decision Making in Groups	451
Group Decision Making Occurs in Stages and Follows Various Rules.	451
Group Discussion Enhances Majority Opinions.	455
Consensus Seeking Overrides Critical Analysis in Groupthink.	459
Leadership	463
A Leader Is an Influence Agent.	463
Transformational Leaders Inspire Followers.	464
The Contingency Model Is an Interactionist View of Leadership.	466
Gender and Culture Can Influence Leadership Style.	470
Group Interests Versus Individual Interests	472
Social Dilemmas Occur When Short-term and Long-term Interests Conflict.	472
Cooperation Is Necessary to Resolve Social Dilemmas.	475
Applications	478
The Big Picture	481
Web Sites	482

Chapter 9

Interpersonal Attraction	484
INTRODUCTION	485
Affiliation Needs	486
Two Reasons for Affiliation Are Comparison and Exchange.	487
Our Evolutionary Heritage and Biology Influence Our Affiliation Desires.	488
Socialization Shapes Our Inborn Affiliation Tendencies.	490

Characteristics of the Situation and Attraction.....	494
Close Proximity Fosters Liking.....	494
Our Affiliation Desires Increase with Anxiety.....	496
Characteristics of Others and Attraction	503
We Are Drawn Toward the Physically Attractive.....	504
There Are Gender-Based Attractiveness Standards.....	508
Gender-Based Attractiveness Standards Shape Body Esteem.	514
Social Comparison Influences Attractiveness Judgments.	516
Birds of a Feather Really Do Flock Together.	519
We Like Those Who Like Us.....	523
When Social Interaction Becomes Problematic.....	524
Social Anxiety Can Keep Us Isolated from Others.	524
Loneliness Is the Consequence of Social Isolation.	527
Applications	533
The Big Picture	536
Web Sites	537

Chapter 10

Intimate Relationships.....540

INTRODUCTION

What Is Intimacy?

*Intimacy Involves Including Another in Your Self-Concept.....*543

Parent-Child Attachment and Later Adult Relationships

*Attachment Is an Inborn Adaptive Response.....*548

*Attachment Styles Influence Romantic Relationships.*550

Friendship.....

*Self-Disclosure Shapes Friendship Development and Maintenance.....*556

*Gender Differences Exist in Heterosexual Friendships.*560

*Cross-Sex Heterosexual Friendships Gravitate to an “Intimacy Mean”.....*565

*“Friends-with-Benefits” Relationships Pose Unique Challenges and Dangers.....*566

*Gender Differences Disappear in Same-Sex Homosexual Friendships.....*568

*Important Barriers to Long-Distance Friendships Are Falling.*569

Romantic Relationships.....

*Culture Shapes How We Think About Romantic Love.*571

*Online Romance and Speed Dating Follow Similar Rules as Face-to-Face Romance.*574

*Passionate Love Can Be Triggered by Excitation Transfer.....*576

*Companionate Love Is More Stable and Enduring than Passionate Love.....*583

*Women and Men May Differ in Their Experience of Love.*585

Will Love Endure?

*Social Disapproval of One’s Partner Harms Relationship Stability.....*589

*People Are Happiest with Romantic Equity.*590

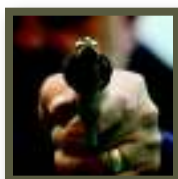

*Self-Esteem Can Both Facilitate and Undermine Romantic Love.*592

*Romantic Happiness Is Based on Both Positive Illusions and Accurate Judgments.*593

*Social Support Predicts Relationship Satisfaction.*596

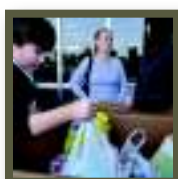

*We Are Meaner to Those We Love Than We Are to Strangers.....*597

People Use Different Strategies to Cope with a Troubled Relationship	600
Romantic Breakups Often Cause Emotional Distress	602
Applications	605
The Big Picture	608
Web Sites	609

Chapter 11

Aggression	612
INTRODUCTION	613
What Is Aggression?	614
Aggression Is Intentional Harm	614
Instrumental and Hostile Aggression Have Different Goals	615
Gender and Personality Moderate the Expression of Aggression	617
Intergroup Aggression Is Often More Extreme than Interpersonal Aggression	622
The Biology of Aggression	624
Evolution Shaped Our Aggressive Behavior Patterns	624
Biological Factors Influence Aggressive Behavior	627
Aggression as a Reaction to Negative Affect	629
The Frustration-Aggression Hypothesis Asserts that Frustration Triggers Aggression	629
Unpleasant Situations Can Activate Aggressive Thoughts and Associations	632
Alcohol Consumption Increases the Likelihood of Aggression	638
Excitation Transfer Can Intensify Hostility-based Aggression	640
Learning Aggressive Behavior	641
Social Learning Theory Emphasizes the Shaping of Aggressive Behavior	641
Media and Video Violence Fosters Aggressive Behavior	645
The “Culture of Honor” Encourages Male Violence	650
Sexual Aggression	653
Pornography Promotes the “Rape Myth” and May Increase Violence Against Women	653
Culture-Based Sexual Scripts Make Acquaintance Rape More Likely	660
Reducing Aggression	662
Punishment Can Both Decrease and Increase Aggression	662
Inducing Incompatible Responses Can Inhibit Aggression	663
Teaching Nonaggressive Responses to Provocation Can Control Aggression	664
Applications	667
The Big Picture	669
Web Sites	670

Chapter 12

Prosocial Behavior: Helping Others	672
INTRODUCTION	673
Why Do We Help?	674
There Are Two Basic Forms of Helping	675
Helping Is Consistent with Evolutionary Theory	675
Social Norms Define the Rules of Helping Others	680

Political and Social Class Differences Shape Willingness to Help.....	681
Individualists and Collectivists Differ in Their Helping Tendencies.....	683
Gender and Personality Influence Helping Responses.....	685
Learning to Be a Helper Involves Both Observation and Direct Reinforcement.....	688
When Do We Help?	694
Bystander Intervention Involves a Series of Decisions.	694
Outcome and Information Dependence Produce the Audience Inhibition Effect.	698
Diffusion of Responsibility Increases with the Number of Bystanders.	702
Bystander Intervention Is Also Shaped by Emotional Arousal and Cost-Reward Assessments.	705
Positive and Negative Moods Can Either Increase or Decrease Helping.	709
The Empathy-Altruism Hypothesis Contends that Empathy Produces Altruistic Motivation.....	712
Whom Do We Help?	717
We Tend to Help Similar Others.	717
We Help Deserving Others, but We Also Blame Victims.....	721
Are There Hidden Costs For Help Recipients?	723
Being Unable to Reciprocate Help Can Create Stress.....	723
Receiving Help Can Threaten Self-Esteem.....	724
Applications	727
The Big Picture	728
Web Sites	729
 Appendix	 730
 Glossary	 750
 References.....	 758
 Photo Credits	 827